“ I first met Dee and Lawrence when they came to my job (McKinney Park apartment's) I helped get them into their new home. They both were a brilliant ray of light!! It wasn't until I was hospitalized that Dee and Lawrence came to see me. Carrying a huge singing balloon and a small candle holder that read " there is no gift as precious as a true friend" it was a Wednesday evening and she was on her way to church she then asked to borrow the shirt I was wearing! Lol...I saw them as Angel's God sent to assure me I wasn't alone and from then on we were inseparable! The day of my surgery she was supposed to be waiting for me, I woke to find her hospitalized on that day with me. We shared all of our time together and made the best out of a long term stay..we had wheel chair races at 3 am in the empty halls by the cafeteria, we watched TV and shopped in the gift shop daily! We were always there for each other and in many ways she was a 2 nd mother to me. Her 1 St day of chemo we went and bought matching wigs I told her I was shaving my head with her! She laughed and said absolutely NO! So we just wore wigs and made the best of chemo day's. I always told her " I love you infinity x forever" she always came back with" I love you infinity x infinity " I still tell her tho she may be gone from my sight " I love and miss you more! Infinity x forever x infinity "

“ The very first time I met Dee she had me trying on a bridal veil and I can never think of weddings without thinking of her. Dee loved purses but she also loved sharing them, no matter how new or expensive the purse might be. However the greatest gift she gave me was her son; I'll forever be grateful my husband had a mother that loved him deeply and provided him with so many happy memories to cherish.

“ So true Dee loved herself some handbags. First time we met she had me help her pick one out and every other week after that since. She was a kind and warm welcoming person who touched the hearts of many. My dear sweet friend I will miss you along with many others.
