“ I was introduced to Gene several years ago by my neighbor. Gene had just begun to play golf. I invited Gene and my neighbor to play in a golf tournament with me. Gene told me later that he had never played a complete 18 holes at that time and he was scared to death. I told him that if he was scared he didn't show it. Gene indicated he would like to play some courses in the DFW area and with that a golf group was formed and each Tuesday we would play courses all over the DFW area and as a result Gene became a very dear friend. My wife commented on several occasions how upbeat and cheerful Gene was everytime he called and I would always tell her he was like that all the time. I will miss Gene Rose greatly and think about him every Tuesday!!! My heartfelt sympathy to Dottie, JE and all of Gene's family.

“ Gene and I played many rounds of golf over the past several years. Gene was a very caring individual. He always had a smile on his face (and often had a well received wise crack comment). He was very difficult to try to one-up on any task, action, or comment. He did not like cold weather golf, I certainly would not classify him as a fair weather golfer, but he did require a lot of manipulation to get him out if temperatures were below or around 50 degrees. He was the type of person you could depend on. His word was his bond. He will be greatly missed by me and his many good friends and golfing buddies. Ben May
